$100,000 state grant assures completion of Pioneer Park

The governor and cabinet have announced the award of a Florida Recreation Development Assistance Program (FRDAP) grant in the amount of $100,000 to Palm Beach County for a development project at Glades Pioneer Park.

The grant project will help maximize the remainder of General Obligation Bond Issue funds allotted by Palm Beach County for Pioneer Park development, and will allow completion of the park's Master Plan.

Project elements of the FRDAP grant include construction of a group picnic pavilion, an open lawn area with stage pad for concerts and special events, a 5,000 foot bike path, a multi-use play area, and a horseshoe pit in the undeveloped northern portion of the park.

Also included in the grant project are renovations to the existing tennis courts, volleyball courts, and family picnic shelters in the developed southern portion of the park.

Additionally, the grant will fund the construction of bleachers at the existing football/soccer field and will pay for asphalt walkways to connect the picnic shelter and the tot lot on the southeast side of the park with the existing bicycle/walking path.

The grant project will be undertaken simultaneously with construction of additional infrastructure and facilities for Phase III developments on the existing northern portion of the park. This phase of development will consist of constructing a restroom, approximately 100 parking spaces, a practice field, lighting for the existing softball field number three, and a press box.

Glades community leaders gave input to the master planning process from Glades Pioneer Park through a series of community meetings in Commission Ken Foster's office.

These leaders anticipate that when fully developed, Glades Pioneer Park will be the focal point for many anticipated special events and activities because of the variety of recreational facilities it will provide.

South Bay to bring in prison thus creating jobs

1,318 bed facility to bring in much needed revenue

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

With the closure of South Bay Growers, the City of South Bay was left with no industry. According to South Bay Mayor Clarence Anthony, "We don't have a major employer anymore." Also affected by the closure is the city. The city has had to lay off employees and they (the city) will have to change insurance carriers.

When South Bay Growers announced it was shutting down Sept. 4, it not only left 1,300 workers unemployed, it also left the City of South Bay in shambles. South Bay Growers brought the small farming community thousands of dollars in taxes.

In a town meeting held Tuesday, Aug. 2, in the South Bay City Hall, Mayor Anthony announced to members of the community he was actively seeking to locate a prison in South Bay. He said the prison would bring with it $1.2 million per month and $16 million per year revenue to the city.

The 1,318 bed medium-security prison will be located South of South Bay (near Gatorland) on 100 acres of property. The distance between the prison site and residential areas is approximately 60 acres of land which consist of sugarcane. Palm Beach County gave the City of South Bay $300,000 to purchase the land from U.S. Sugar at which to locate the prison.

The construction process at the prison will take about 14 months. During the construction, 200 people will be employed. After the completion of the prison, 300 people will be employed to do jobs ranging from corrections officers, cooks, landscapers, etc.

Mayor Anthony told the residents "we (the commission) will demand that they buy their products (supplies to build the prison) locally."

Commissioner Michael Jackson said with the closing of South Bay Growers, the city was left with virtually no where to turn. He said it's down to a point to figure out "will South Bay survive economically or will South Bay die?"

Though many of the residents agreed with the mayor's and commissioners' ideas of bringing in a prison, and virtually bringing revenue to the city, opposition was met by few people in attendance. According to Cynthia Larramonde, executive director of Blacks on the Serious Side, "Layoffs from South Bay Growers did not only effect the people of South Bay, yet they're going to turn around and reward them by giving them $300,000 when they just laid people off."

Job loss: facing the crisis in South Bay

Second in a series

By Earlene Kuck

Suddenly your life is turned upside down.

Your job is gone and with that financial loss comes the accompanying emotional stress. You are now concerned with how to maintain the household, pay the current bills, and most importantly, how to put food on the table - all this, with no income.

This scenario may be a reality for many of the 1,300 who have recently lost their jobs at South Bay Growers. These workers will draw their last paycheck the first week in September. After that, their futures are uncertain.

Life is unpredictable, at best, and obstacles are a part of living for which we never seem prepared. Uncontrollable circumstances always bring challenges, some of which lead to decision that are difficult and often require a complete change of life style.

The worries, frustrations, and seemingly hopelessness of the situation may cause you to despair, but the most important objective is to put things in proper perspective.

The first thought that comes to mind is to replace the job you just lost - what is available? You may eventually have to change your career, but in the meantime, you may need to think of odd jobs to put food on the table.

CREATE your job based on your skills and abilities. Consider some of the following ideas for your interim choices.

ERRAND SERVICES: Many older people, as well as the disabled of all ages, would welcome this service. They often need someone to buy their groceries, pay their bills, walk their dog, have their prescriptions filled or many other sundry services. Sometimes they just simply need someone to check on them a couple of times a day.

YARD WORK: Always a needed service - especially if the work is done well. Many people in the Lake Okechobee area have residences which remain vacant for several months of the year, and they look for maintenance help during these periods.

PUMPING GAS: Most cities and small towns have several gas/service stations where you can fill a great number of services. Not just pumping gas, but acting as cashier, clerk, mechanic's helper, or cleaning around the station area.

CLERK: Check with all the stores in town, large and small, to see if they need help with stock, or perhaps simple cleaning. You may help with the ordering, stocking of shelves, or ringing up sales. Small businesses often rely need particularly help to start, but more importantly, they look for a good worker with a pleasant personality to enhance their small business image.

BABY SITTING: This is an area where many of us qualify, but never think about as potential income. Good baby-sitters are highly respected and much needed by today's working families. You can fill this void by filling the time gaps between school closing and parents getting home from work.

ELDERLY SITTING: Especially today, families are often in need of this service. If you are good with the older generation, word will spread and you can have many positions available to you.

HOUSEWORK: In today's households of working mothers, this is a wide open field. Trust is the key word and if you can build your reputation on trust, many jobs will open to you. Doing the job better than average is also a key factor. Don't just dust the furniture - polish it. Don't just clean the sink - make it shine.

MAINTENANCE (CHORES): Always in demand around any house, and something most of us hate to do for ourselves. Go around any neighborhood, starting with your own, and let them know you are available and what your skills are. Simple painting jobs, minor repairs, and clean-up work are always needed and appreciated. There's a great many areas remaining, such as helping around ear lobe, auto dealers, etc.

Podiatrist opens his own office in Belle Glade

Dr. Daniel Drapacz, D.P.M., has opened a new office in Belle Glade at 685 South Main Street.

Noting the convenience for his patients, Dr. Drapacz said he has been planning to open his own office in Belle Glade for several months and has been looking for a good location. He has been maintaining an office in the Professional Building at Glades General Hospital.

He said his new office will offer state-of-the-art, high tech equipment and he will continue to offer new patients a free foot consultation.

"Most people fear going to the doctor. They think they are going to have pain inflicted and have an expensive bill. That's why I offer a free first time consultation."

"It allows people to come in and find out what's wrong with them and get information in order to make informative decisions about what can be done and there's no obligation or risk to the person," said Dr.

Drapacz.

The doctor is a graduate of the College of Podiatric Medicine in San Francisco and has had two years of residency training in foot and ankle surgery.

During his training, he worked with children with flat feet deformities and diabetic foot care and the prevention of amputations.

"I'm only one of a hand-full of podiatrists with that level of training," he said.

He also handles such problems as ingrown toenails, bunions, heel pain, crooked toes, corns, calluses, gait problems and geriatric foot problems.

He was in private practice for two years in Connecticut before moving to South Florida.

"I like working out here because of the high cost of operating on the coast," said the doctor. "In order to maintain an office in those areas, it almost becomes a factory where you can only spend a few minutes with each patient. Out here, the pace is slower and I can spend more time with a patient and address all of their problems," he added.

Dr. Drapacz also noted that people in the Glades are very pleasant and agreeable to deal with.

Dr. Drapacz is affiliated with Glades General Hospital and Everglades Regional Medical Center in Pahokee. He also has an office at 185 S. Barfield Highway, Pahokee.

He is available Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. by appointment. Telephone numbers are 996-1144 in Belle Glade, and 924-7216 in Pahokee.

Recent foot surgery has Glades General Hospital Nurse Sherry Taylor almost back to normal. Ms. Taylor (shown here) was born with a foot deformity which was corrected by Dr. Daniel Drapacz (standing). The doctor has recently moved into his new office at 685 South Main Street, Belle Glade.

Town meeting held for South Bay Growers employees

By Earlene Kuck

Displaced workers were looking for answers to a lot of questions on Thursday, July 28, and that's what they got at the town meeting held at the John Boy Auditorium in Clewiston.

Representatives from HRS, Veterans' Services, U.S. Sugar Corp., Job Training/Placement, and the local VFW, including a representative from the SHARE food program were on hand to answer questions.

Perla Arrus, a Hispanic translator was kept busy translating as speakers were giving information, and later working with individuals at the specific group tables, as needed.

Clewiston Mayor John Perry said his city was making every effort to make help available to those in need, and support services would be well publicized to ease this time of concern.

Janet Taylor, aide to Congressman Alcee Hastings, coordinated the meeting. Brief summaries were made by the organizations represented, but the key was the breakdown into groups so that individuals could ask questions in specific areas of concern.

Some workers complained that calls to U.S. Sugar Corp. were not being returned. Director of Community Services for U.S. Sugar, Robert Coker, said that situation would be corrected immediately.

Workers learned that food packages are available through the SHARE program. For more information, call 813-983-0250.

Billy Roberts, Jr. and his fiancée, Stefania Anderson, would like everyone to know what a wonderful time they had on a Bahamian cruise. Billy's father won the trip that the Pahokee Rotary Club gave away. The Rotary had the Glades Travel Agency to plan the three-night, four-day cruise. They left July 22 and enjoyed a first class trip on the Carnival Ecstasy. They came back with souvenirs and lasting memories. Billy hopes his father will win them another one next year.

Determining where a hurricane is going can be a nightmare

By Mike Lyons

What's the toughest job in the weather business? That's easy: hurricane predictions. Forecasting tomorrow's weather is difficult but trying to determine where a hurricane is going can be a nightmare.

"We do a great job of observing hurricanes," said Dr. Robert Sheets, the director of the National Hurricane Center. "We can tell you exactly where the storm is located but figuring out where it's headed next is still difficult."

Weather satellites help forecasters at the Hurricane Center pinpoint a tropical storm or hurricane's exact position. The satellites can also determine the intensity and the wind speed of the storm.

Reconnaissance flights by the United States Air Force and the hurricane hunters determine the exact barometric reading of the tropical system as well as wind speeds. Finding the storm is easy but figuring out where it's headed next is still very hard.

Specialists at the hurricane center rely on sophisticated computers to forecast the track and intensity of tropical systems. The computers use mathematical formulas called forecast models to help meteorologists predict the future actions of hurricanes.

"We use two types of forecast models," said Dr. Sheets. "The first is called a statistical model which is based on historical data. The other is a dynamic model which mimics the Earth's atmosphere."

The statistical model takes the current position of the hurricane, compares it to a similar storm of the past and issues a forecast based on what the original storm did.

For example, let's say a tropical storm is located near the western tip of Cuba. The computer will search the historical records, which date back to 1871, in hopes of locating other storms of the same size at the same spot. The model will then issue a forecast based on where the historical storms went.

"History is an important element in forecasting hurricanes," said Dr. Sheets. "We find the statistical models are very helpful." The hurricane center currently uses two statistical or historical models.

The dynamic models take a different and more sophisticated approach to forecasting hurricanes. The models attempt to imitate the Earth's atmosphere with mathematical equations.

The models input weather observations from around the world into a mathematical formula that mimics the weather patterns. The specialists at the hurricane center enter the coordinates of the tropical system, run the equations and the model predicts where the storm is going next.

Mike Lyons is the weatherman for WPBE, Channel 25.

Whiplash injuries can result from a sudden backward and forward whipping movement of the neck, caused by an auto collision, a fall, a powerful slap on the back, or even a violent sneeze. The ligaments and muscles controlling the spinal segments are stretched or sprained, allowing the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions. Nerves are then "pinched" or irritated, giving rise to headaches, nausea, dizziness and other pain.

Government wasting taxpayers money

I'm a concerned Glades citizen. I need to find out if anyone knows if there is a chapter in the West Palm Beach area or in the Belle Glade, Clewiston area, anywhere around the lake, if there is a group that's called Citizens Against Government Waste?

I'm tired of seeing my tax money, (and I'm sure you are too) wasted on a daily basis.

If you want to read some more information about government waste just read the August issue of Reader's Digest.

It talks about the Social Security disability insurance fund and about how drug pushers and alcoholics can be allowed to get government subsidizing. Also in there is a story about what Vice President Gore has done with the $60,000 of our taxpayers money. Also, the Social Security Administration, this past week, there was an article in the Palm Beach Post about how the Social Security Administration gave out $32 million dollars in bonuses last year.

We need to as a community get together and try to force out government waste. Especially when I go through town and see young guys riding around in Jaguars and Mercedes when I can't even get a house and I'm having to work two jobs just to try to afford a home.

Put it back

Why was the left turn signal removed at Ave. E and Main Street? It's a very busy intersection, especially during the season.

The turn arrow is badly needed and should be restored. Thank you.

Editor's note: We spoke with Belle Glade's Chief of Police and Director of Public Safety Michael Miller.

He said the left turn signal has not been removed, just updated. New state-wide signalization is being used. To put it simply, the light will not register a turn signal for just one car, but if it senses three or more, the right turn signal will activate. Thank you for Speaking Out. We asked a question many people have been asking.

Needs of the uninsured should be top priority in Health Care Reform

By Neil Whipkey
Glades General Hospital Administrator

and shift the costs to other payers, but many will face financial disaster.

As Medicare money is drastically reduced, many hospitals will have to eliminate some employees and some services.

Glades General Hospital, with much of its patient activity being Medicare, may be forced to face those same issues. In effect, Congress may force hospitals to ration care without Congress taking the blame for the results.

Painful spending cuts for programs to help the elderly and the poor don't make sense when other sound alternatives exist. Additional taxes on products whose use contributes to increased health care costs, such as tobacco, alcohol, handguns and assault weapons, could produce $76 billion in revenues.

Florida is just beginning to implement reforms to help reduce the number of uninsured. Congress can learn from Florida. You can have reform without forcing a financial burden on those who must have the resources to initiate that reform.

Our state legislature made great strides in 1992 and 1993 to adopt health care reforms to reduce the number of uninsured Floridians. Despite this progress, much remains to be accomplished if we are to provide access to health insurance for all our state's citizens.

During the 1994 regular, extended, and special sessions, legislators were unable to reach agreement on a proposal to provide subsidized health insurance to Floridians not covered by previous reform initiatives.

The major obstacles to the latest reform proposal stem from political considerations as well as legitimate substantive concerns about who would be covered under the plan and the cost of providing such coverage.

But these obstacles are irrelevant to the estimated 2.7 million Floridians without health insurance coverage. For that reason, it is time to put politics aside.

The time has come to recognize that the needs of the uninsured are the paramount consideration.

Unfortunately, disagreements about eligibility levels are preventing enactment of any program at all.

The hospitals of the Florida Hospital Association support a state-subsidized health insurance program to provide coverage for the uninsured. These subsidies can be funded through savings in the state's Medicaid program, but must be implemented on a fiscally prudent "pay as you go" basis.

The program should begin with eligibility for Florida's neediest citizens. As we gain experience, and as projected funding surpluses develop, eligibility can be expanded to more Floridians.

Compromise is needed in Tallahassee to achieve a program that would provide health insurance coverage for more Floridians, reducing the number of uninsured and reducing the cost shifting burden on all of us.

Contact your local state legislators and urge them to pass health care reform - NOW. Your voice counts but you have to speak - I urge you to do so today.

State prison in South Bay is a bad idea

Dear Editor:

I was granted an opportunity to return to my beloved City of South Bay when circumstances beyond my control forced me to take a hiatus from academia.

The events that have been taking place in South Bay during my absence, however, indicate to me that my city is dying a slow and painful death.

I could not believe that the same mayor, who had worked so hard to bring a much needed library to our fair city, was now accepting $300,000 from Palm Beach County to build a state prison.

I have tried to no avail to justify the decision of our city council to pursue this project. What need does a prison serve? Is Glades Correctional Institution overflowing? If so, why haven't we heard anything about it?

If the South Bay city council wants to build a prison in our community in order to provide jobs, then I am afraid that this plan lacks both foresight and creativity. For one, the stigma

South Bay revised

This is a very difficult time, not just for South Bay, but for the entire Glades communities. How was and ironic it is that just at a time when Glades area businesses are reeducating themselves to trying to improve the local economy, South Bay Growers is being shut down.

The devastating loss felt by the hundreds of families who will lose their jobs is, unfortunately very real.

We all applaud Mayor Anthony's attempts to bring a prison and jobs into the area. However, with the future being so ephemeral, the only certainty is that many folks willing and able to work hard, will be unemployed for too long a time.

If you have been or are about to be laid off, please don't make a bad situation worse. I have already heard of some unfortunate incidents where people began fighting each other, presumably out of frustration.

Your families need you to keep your dignity, your health, and for you to remain positive and proactively motivated in your job search.

You need to apply for unemployment benefits, food stamps, and to immediately that comes with housing criminals within (or even just outside) city limits can be devastating. No corporations will want to invest their money here or build any offices in our area. Palm Beach County already seems unwilling to help us create a viable tourist industry in our area although we have access to a unique experience that comes particularly from being located around Lake Okeechobee.

Only a simpleton would believe that they will change their minds after we build a prison out here.

Let's pretend for a moment, though the prospect is unlikely, that the displaced workers from South Bay Growers are re-trained to take jobs at the new prison. How much will this re-training cost? When will this training take place? Who will be qualified for re-training?

I haven't heard any answers to these questions, but perhaps the city council will have answers available to the citizens at the next city commission meeting.

I shudder to think that hard-working, decent people who took pride in planting and harvesting vegetables that fed the world will now be rewarded by having their safety compromised and their lives jeopardized when their new livelihood will be centered around baby-sitting our state's most vicious criminals.

Furthermore, prospective residents will choose another area in which to live because living next to a prison is truly a frightening concept. Personally, if a state prison is built here, I will join many others who have already fled this area. I, and I'm certain I'm not alone, choose to live here because there is the potential for a quality life here on the bank of the second largest fresh water lake in the U.S.

If the intention of our city council is to foster economic growth, tourism, and the general improvement of the quality of life of our area's residents, then building a prison will not provide an adequate solution. If killing all the potential for positive growth in our area is the intention of our city government, then a state prison on our muck is the perfect answer.

For the first time since Mr. Anthony has become our mayor, I feel pressed to question his motivations.

According to the Palm Beach Post, the $300,000 from the county is to be used to acquire a suitable piece of land from U.S. Sugar Corporation. Why would Mr. Anthony want to give $300,000 to the very corporation that abruptly closed and did not even have a contingency plan that would at least give most workers some sort of temporary employment until they could find another job?

Instead, workers who had for so long dedicated their lives to providing a quality work force are now being ushered to job services and public assistance in order to feed their families.

Needless to say, the time has come for the residents of South Bay to band together and express all questions, concerns and criticisms to the South Bay City Council.

If they do not listen, then perhaps it is time to get some of these incumbents out of office and replace them with new politicians who will not only represent the masses of the residents who feel disenfranchised and ignored, but also focus their energies into bringing innovative solutions to our city's economic problems.

BBB warns businesses
about invoice scam

The Better Business Bureau of Palm Beach County, Inc., is warning area businesses to be on the lookout for phony invoices.

A recent mailing by National P.C. Systems of Sherman Oaks, Calif., appears to be an invoice for which payment is due.

However, the mailing is actually an application for a computer service agreement.

"The invoice, which includes names, figures, and other details that add to the appearance of legitimacy, may be paid unwittingly along with a number of other routine bills," said Ron Stephens, president of the BBB.

The BBB has published a business advisory on "Phony Invoice Schemes." It is available by calling 1-800-394-2201.

Ask Dr. Boltson

ously.

Finally, it is important to remember that if you have lost your job, you will be negatively affected. It is important to share your grief with either family, friends or a counselor. Someone who seems to show no explicit upset, may release their feelings and frustrations in more hidden or dangerous ways (violence, substance abuse, depression, or even suicide).

Be honest with yourself and try to deal with your feelings honestly and effectively. Friends, be aware that although it is of course natural to feel very upset in times like these, unusual behavior or extreme withdrawal may be a sign that it is time to call for a professional intervention for your loved one.

Neighbors, now is the time to reach out and show extra kindness and caring to neighbors.

If you would like to anonymously inquire about issues regarding yourself or your acquaintances, you may do so by writing to Dr. Boltson. You don't even have to give your name or address. Just mail all questions to:

Feeding the needy in South Florida

EVEN UP

Winn-Dixie and the Daily Bread Food Bank have joined forces throughout South Florida to battle against hunger. Have your cashier round off the total grocery order to the next dollar or more if you choose. The money is automatically added to an ongoing fund being raised for the Food Bank. Every dollar raised by the Food Bank provides meals to the hungry people in our community. All funds raised will be utilized to obtain needed items for distribution. Just say "Even It Up" at the checkout to help feed the needy.

Positive Connections concludes program with Grand Finale

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Positive Connections, Lake Shore Middle School site, held its Grand Finale program Thursday, July 28. The program instilled motivation skills and taught self-esteem. The site coordinator, Michael E. Jackson, along with many helpers and staff members, worked with the students on the proper ways to dress, speak and etiquette when going for job interviews (which were all exhibited in a fashion show during the grand finale program).

Throughout the entire Positive Connections program, students attended school each morning and assembled their own computers. At the end of the Grand Finale program, the students were permitted to take their computers home.

GFC magazine to increase subscription rates

For the first time since 1983, the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's bimonthly FLORIDA WILDLIFE magazine will raise its subscription rates.

The magazine, which consistently wins honors — most recently, second place for best wildlife article in international competition — will launch the new rates Oct. 1. One, two- and three-year subscriptions will cost $10, $19 and $27 respectively.

Subscribers who want to head off the new rates can sign up or renew at the current rates of $7, $14 and $21. Payment has to be in the subscription office (not postmarked) no later than Sept. 30 to take advantage of the savings.

FLORIDA WILDLIFE is a full-color publication focusing on Florida's wildlife and aquatic life, conservation, biodiversity, stewardship and outdoor recreation.

For additional information, interested persons should write to FLORIDA WILDLIFE, Circulation Office, 620 South Meridian St., Tallahassee, Fla. 32399-1016. The telephone number is (904) 488-5563.

Cromer participates in D-Day services

Army Staff Sergeant Maurice S. Cromer joined nearly 3,000 United States service members and thousands of World War II veterans on Omaha and Utah beaches in Normandy, France June 6-7 to pay tribute to the U.S. allies on the 50th anniversary of the D-Day invasion of Normandy.

The commemoration, officiated by President Bill Clinton and other allied government officials, honored D-Day and World War II veterans, and featured color guard ceremonies, reenactments of U.S. amphibious troops landing on Omaha beach, and airborne troops landing in Normandy.

Sgt. Cromer, a personnel administration center supervisor, is the son of Mack and Ruthie B. Cromer of Belle Glade.

He is a 1994 graduate of Glades Central Community High School.
